

North Technical Attendance Statistics

There is very little debate over the fact that excellent student attendance directly impacts student performance and achievement before and after graduation. However, maintaining and improving attendance can be challenging, especially at the secondary level. At North Technical High School we make regular school attendance a priority, knowing that consistent attendance will help students become dependable and responsible young adults. It is the stated goal at North Technical to keep overall student attendance near or above the 93% level. The data for the school year 2009-2010 showed that North Technical has done exactly that, maintaining an overall 92.6% attendance rate. Factors such as good attendance and graduation rates (96.8% for 2010) helped North Technical meet Missouri's Department of Elementary and Secondary Education's (DESE) Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) indicators in both 2009 and 2010. Congratulations to students, teachers and staff on a job well done.
